A THRIFT LESSON

Once upon a time, as the story books tell it, there was a popular song that had its run on the vaudeville and comic opera stage. The period was before the days of thrift stamps and liberty bonds but the words of the opening stanza ran thusly: "Every little bit added to what you got makes just a little bit more." It was a thrift lesson in tabloid form but it omitted to propound one feature of the saving game, and that is that "what you got" will add to itself if you will only give it a chance.

In the Vermont Savings bank at Brattleboro is a deposit of $1114.85 and a petition has been presented to the probate court in the Brattleboro district to determine the ownership of the money. The deposit is claimed by Robert Whiting of New York who says the depositor was his father, Newton E. Whiting. The original deposit was $59 and was made in January, 1857. There have been no withdrawals nor any additions except the interest credited by the bank. At the time it was made the depositor was only fifteen years of age. He died in 1882 at the age of 42, yet neither he nor any of his relatives had ever increased or diminished the account.

If Robert Whiting of New York succeeds in obtaining possession of that $1114.85, some one may remark that it has been a long time coming to him. Correct! Sixty-two years have elapsed between 1857 and 1919 but all that Robert Whiting will have had to do to get the money was to wait. It will not have cost him five minutes of brain fag or a drop of perspiration. That $59 just remained in the bank and doubled and doubled again for his benefit.

A dollar in the savings bank is working for the depositor every day in the year. It does not require vacations, it has no lost time, it is not incapacitated by illness and it never tucks down on the job. It will work alone, with a single helper or in gangs and the bigger the gangs the more production for the man, woman or child whose name is on the cover of the passbook. When a dollar of interest has accumulated it goes on working just like the original one hundred cents that established the deposit.

Far too many of us go through life trying to do it all with our heads, hands and feet. Money comes and goes but we keep on planning, toiling and traveling, regardless of the fact that if we had begun to put some of the dollars at work in the savings bank that we would have had a partner that would ask no favors, never complain and give us its earnings to smooth the rough spots on the road when the journey becomes hard and wearisome. A savings bank deposit is a partner that never considers itself. It gives without reservation and asks nothing in return. There is no obligation. It rewards good treatment with increased giving. It would, perhaps, be considered mercenary to say that it is a man's best friend but it certainly has qualifications possessed by no other comrade.

CHILD SAVED FROM WORMS

The head of a family who has an income of $5,000.000 a year will have to pay an income tax of $3,783,000, whereas a head of a family with an income of $2,500 will have to pay only $30. How fortunate it is for one to be poor. It is merely because we so earnestly desire to help our country that we wish we were in a position to pay the $3,783,000.

Russia is to be permitted to manage her own affairs. But she is to understand that if she persists in making bonfires of her domestic reconstruction material the conflagration must be confined to her own borders, or the surrounding nations will be ready to turn on the hose.

Precautions are being taken in Germany to prevent any Prussian hegemony in the new confederation. This is the last straw administered to the theory of the rule of might over right, and the disappearance from contemporary history of arrogant Prussia as a world factor.

Based upon the most careful crop estimates of the department of agriculture, there will not be enough food produced on the farms this year unless some way can be found to establish a continuous intimacy between unsorbed town genius and the unengaged country plow handles.

Store will be open Friday until 10 P. M.—Close Saturday at 1 P. M.

NEW HOME HEATING METHOD

Radiator Boiler is Invention of Soldier-Engineer.

What is said to be one of the greatest inventions of the present century—and called the radiator-boiler—was recorded recently at the United States patent office in Washington. It is claimed that this new invention is especially useful in farm houses, school houses, summer cottages, suburban railways stations, small dwellings in town or city, and in large city flats where each tenant has to supply his own heat.

Strangely enough, this is one of the good things that has come from the great war. It is the invention of a soldier-engineer. The heating of barracks and hospitals, where there were no cellars, was a problem, and it set him to thinking. The result is a hot-water system that can be packed up and moved around almost as easily as the family piano. From the radiator-boiler runs the piping to the radiators in other rooms—all heated by the same fire!

Here are some of the things he promises it will do:
Save fuel—only one fire is needed, and the 40 per cent of heat that a stove or hot-air furnace wastes in the stove pipe is used to heat the water.

Prevent fire—for the boiler is water-backed and it can stand on a wooden floor with perfect safety. Besides, the less are cast solid and cannot be knocked out—the radiator boiler will not upset.

Last but not least—it will not wear out, burn out, warp like a stove, or be found useless if a building is altered. It can be enlarged or made smaller with ease.

Saves money—by saving fuel; saves labor of climbing up and down stairs and feeding many fires; saves doctor bills by keeping all rooms at an equal temperature; and outlasts the building in which it stands, since it is made of cast-iron, which is practically indestructible.

This invention marks another victory for the great mass of the people over hard living conditions.

A Coal Shortage Certain

Statement by HARRY A. GARFIELD,
U. S. Fuel Administrator:

"Buy coal now, in August or in Autumn will be too late. A big coal shortage is coming. Thousands of miners are going back to Europe. Coal production has fallen off considerably and a shortage of many million tons looks probable. My advice to consumers is to BUY NOW while they can get a selection and delivery."

We are anxious to protect our customers but we cannot do it unless coal is taken in and stored by the consumer.

Just remember the severe shortage of 1917 and order your COAL AT ONCE.
